Great sounding 14.2mm Driver!

Reviewed in India on 28 August 2020

I am really impressed by Realme this time! I love earbuds and have several ones like Vido, Yincrow X6 and Monk Plus. These are quite well built and I love the audio output at this price point! The phone is able to drive them easily and pairing a DAC makes them even better sounding. The sound is U shaped, Bass is well presented but not basshead level and the bass quality will not disappoint you as it's good enough considering Worst !! Very uncomfortable earphones. Don't buy before you try

Reviewed in India on 28 August 2020

This is one of the worst earphones I have ever used.

Design of the earbuds is very bad.

Doesn't fits well in right ear. It starts paining after few minutes.

My recommendation : don't buy before you try.

I wanted to return but electronic items are only

I am a user of sony xb400 wireless headset but still I ordered it for temporary use and trust me I am loving it. Sound quality is quite decent and excellent in this price range. Bass is awesome and look and feel quality is good in this range. Overall value for money and last but not the least mic which is also giving good response.

GOUTAM G.

Either its the Best (or the Worst)!

Sorry for the confusing headline... actually... I meant to say if it fits well to your ear then it is the best that price can buy in this price range... if not then it is really horrifying..you will end up with pain in your ears.

So before going into review further, what actually an audio device demands that is sound quality your primary question should be if it will fit to your ears or not..

Luckily if you have such an 'fitting ears' the following portion is for you, otherwise abort reading here..

Sound Quality:

Overall great. This has got the largest driver size (14.2mm) that I never encountered in any bud. By virtue of that it delivers beautiful, clear sound across all ranges, high & mid are excellent and crisp; low is also good (if it fit properly to your ears)

rating:

High (treble): 9/10

Mid: 9.5/10

Low (Bass): 7/10

Microphone:

as demanded in the spec, quality is excellent, crystal clear (for 4G calls) but its positioning one the wire is quite weird, its so distant from your mouth, almost 8-10 inches away for an average person (without exceptional neck length like crane or giraffe ;!!), it will invariably pick your voice only feebly. You have to hold it near your mouth for better voice volume to reach at other end. Couldn't find any justification placing so distant!!

Rating: 8/10

(would have given 10/10 if it was closer to mouth)

Build Quality:

overall good. Wires are decent and seems to be durable, but the buds itself are plasticity and slippery and quite often fall from your ears. the jack would have been better if featured right angle type.

Rating: 6/10

Fit:

this is the most horrible part. as the buds are hard there is no scope to adjustment as par the shape of your ear (unlike 'in the ear' gel buds type) as the buds are plasticity it will not seat at its position, will slip readily. Cant be used during heavy movements (not even for brisk walking). and it pains on prolonged usage.

Rating: 3-4/10

However, I liked the common problem of 'in the ear' gel buds type- the unnatural own voice resonance (just like that you feel when you talk closing your own ear) while speaking due to sound conduction is not so much here.

Final Verdict:

If you have a chance try it first whether it fits to your ears (need a large ear type) before you decide to get ones!!

It actually sound great!!

Punchier and on higher bass side

I dont want to use wireless earphones all the time due to health reasons so for daily rough and home usage, took this one.

About the product.

- Better than boat at this price range
- good quality built
- fits nicely in ears without pain
- Tangle-free Cord, Two way built design.
- Its Glossy, looks classic and clean finish

With the two way design i meant, till mic length its made up different material which helps wire to remain loosen up without getting tangled and rest above part is the same one which normally every earphones used, so its nice.

My Usage:

- Using under a helmet so with this plain in-ear design doesn't hurt my ear while riding bike and using the helmet and at same time listening to songs and answering calls.
- At home using it for long session multimedia purposes like using it with a laptop while watching some videos or listening to some info videos related to my field.

that's pretty it, not heavily usage like listening songs in free time and always using it throughout the day, so if you looking for a daily driver for your calls, for songs multimedia, etc at the same price point then there are other options as well like from boult wired earphones, they are fantastic, durable and awesome sound quality with same price range.

Pros

- good music quality at this price range
- looks stylish clean and sleek
- Good for bass lovers

Cons

- Due to heavier on bass, in-call voice seems to be heavier, not crisp
- inline mic situation is pathetic, not near your mouth so while riding you have to stick into your helmet for clear communication
- terrible for callers as its heavier on the bass side and the treble feels like lost

Bottomline

Its best for music at this price range but not best for calling purposes.

i got this for hit and try experience, just to have something new not because i have lots of money, just because my existing wired earphones got bigger earplugs body which cause me pain while wearing under helmet. so due to its simple in ear design with no bulge outwards makes it convenient.

Suggestion: Positioning of mic can be adjusted by lifting it upwards instead giving it in midway.

May be its due to the fact that if they give mic near mouth, they have to give mic on single wire, which might increase the cost due to technology & implementation on thin wires, whereas under 500 budget handsfree , Companies generally prefer locating mic midway where both the wires i.e left & right ear gets separated or diverted (joint), which helps companies to save extra cost.

Warning!!!

Your ear may or may not comfortably hold this half in ear type so be careful.

My experience was great felt very light but no noise isolation I can totally hear everything in the background so I would not recommend this to listen to music while on a bus or something because you can hear all the noise around and will ruin your experience.

All you need to worry about is the fit in your ear and the noise isolation other than that everything is perfect. I would have liked a right angled headphone jack but it is okay.

Otherwise the sound quality is excellent for the price and one of the best below 400rs.

Excellent purchase for bass lovers apple gives such bass for 5000 rupees👍

Good enough better than my realme buds 2 which is worth 600. Bass is good and better than realme buds 2 .but not as good as apple basic earphones even with very large 14.2 mm driver. for bass ill give 8.8 out of 10 points because i compared it with apple airpods other wise it deserve 9.2 - 9.5 for bass. Fits comfortably in ear doesn't cause pain(new user may feel pain for 2 to 3 days after get used to it not a big deal. Earphone with eartips cause pain to my ears but for this half ear type i get used to it long ago so i love it. Vocals 9 out of 10. Treble 9 out of 10. for this price realme gives 2000 worth earphones believe me,jbl,sony boat are much expensive with similar even lower sound quality.

This earphone is very affordable. Not only that but it comes with 14.2mm driver under ₹400.

*Pro's

- ✓ Awesome Bass
- ✓ Good sound quality
- ✓ HD mic
- ✓ Texture wire
- ✓ Great fitting (for my ear but not sure for other's)

*Con's

- × No L shape audio jack
- × Not gold plated jack

So if your budget is tight then go for it. Great deal.

Good earphones but not comfortable for everyone

Reviewed in India on 4 September 2020

Colour: Black Verified Purchase

The sound quality of the earphones is good considering the price range but please do not buy before a trial offline or if you believe that the area around the entry of your ear canal is considerably small. It has a huge effect according to the make of your ears. Company didn't consider this while designing. For me, the earphones are uncomfortable. I have to constantly adjust them. The area around the earphone grill is not quite smooth as a fresh piece which, according to your ear shape & size, will make it uncomfortable. Overall, I'd say buy at your own risk or take an offline trial if possible.

Update after a month's usage:

The sound quality after the initial burn-in is still good for the price..the area around the earphone grill was smoothened by rubbing with clothes..comfortable at a particular position..would suggest an offline trial before buying..
